Cast Amitabh Bachchan as Dinesh Nagpal Jaya Bachchan as Julie Nagpal Raza Murad as Chander Brahmachari as Vijay Mohan Gokhale as M.P. Bhandari Om Prakash as Praveen Sudhir as Pramod Raj Rajendra Nath as CBI Inspector Gulshan Grover as Ram Ji Hansika Motwani as Jaya Music The film's music is by Kalyanji Anandji and lyrics by Anand Bakshi. The film's soundtrack was released in India on 1 February 1998. Critical reception Upon its release, Dev Anand Teerath received mixed reviews from critics. It was considered an average film with a decent story, performance by the actors and good direction. However, it was criticised for its poor execution, less than stellar screenplay and not having any good dialogues. It was later reviewed by trade publications on the 50th anniversary of its release as a "film of average filmgoers" whose story was "inspired" and "articulate" with "vibrant" dialogues and "exciting situations", but the review was not favourable. The film was also described by Girish Karnad in his book "Dialogues with a silent film director" as having a "fullness of content" that was lacking in the films of Manmohan Desai. Most of those Jews were elderly, and many were women and children. When it became apparent that they would never find enough men to kill and women and children to rape, the Nazis began herding the remaining Jews into a series of horrific death camps.
